Organizations today face increased travel costs that impact training opportunities

Dealing with training costs takes hard work and forethought. Yet how do you take the necessary Business Continuity Management courses – when training and travel dollars are so limited?

The answer is DRI CANADA's on-line courses. This winter, we're offering an effective training option that provides ways for your organization to reduce its training and travel costs while still ensuring your team has the skills necessary to handle the unexpected.

Taking our on-line course is a great way to save money. Our on-line course is supported by a course coordinator and can be completed over a ten-week period. This is ideal for busy professionals, who can now work right at their own desks completing the courses in convenient periods of time.

Our Business Continuity Planning, Accelerated Certificate on-line course is being offered starting January 6th, 2010 and registration is now available. Additional information can be found on Education.

Now is the ideal time to take advantage of this valuable opportunity to learn Business Continuity Management practices – and receive DRI International certification that's recognized worldwide.

DRI CANADA is a tested, proven and accepted source of BCM education. Our programs help graduates prepare to meet the challenges of crisis events. You will also save your organization effort, time and money.
